THE FLOATY SHIFT DRESS, EASY MAKEUP, TOUCH-ME HAIR — THIS IS THE NEW SEASON OF SEXY

If you haven't heard by now, Asia's Next Top Model is finally launching. (America's Next Top Model is already in its 18th season!) Casting has been open for some time now and has just closed on 7 May. One person they've definitely secured for the show is none other than Nadya Hutagalung, one of the most prominent faces of the region's modelling scene. Hutagalung will host this Asian version of the popular reality TV show. www.AsiasNextTopModel.tv

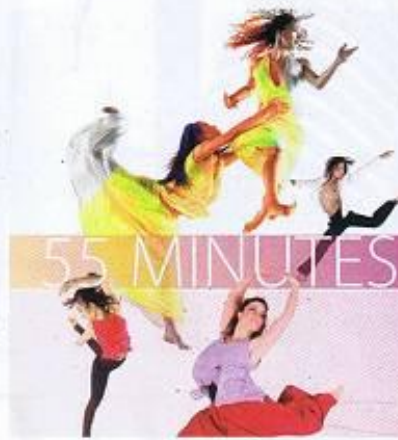

Looking for the perfect Father's Day gift? We bet your closet-rocker dad may like a copy of this anniversary-edition e-book, The Rolling Stones – 50 years. Sold in two parts, Part 1 is available this month, with archival interviews and images. There will be over 2,000 pages of Stones history. www.amazon.com

CULTURE VULTURE

Arts events you can't miss.

55 MINUTES

Sometimes, the best way to communicate is through body language. With four choreographers, 55 Minutes by Maya Dance Theatre showcases the varied interpretations of conversation through movement. 1 to 2 June, Drama Centre Black Box, #05-01 National Library Building. Tickets at $32, Sistic.

PANORAMA: RECENT ART FROM CONTEMPORARY ASIA

Contemporary art is given the spotlight, as this exhibition features pieces from the Singapore Art Museum collection. The works of 24 artists were chosen because of their perspectives on important issues often debated about in the region. There are notable works from the likes of Sherman Ong and :phunk. David Chew curates. Till 25 December, Singapore Art Museum, www.singaporeartmuseum.sg

MUSICITY

It may not sound particularly romantic to be writing tunes about landmarks in our city. (An ode to the Merlion, perhaps?) But Musicity, where local recording artists are commissioned by the British Council, features original work inspired by historically important and artistic landmarks. Not just a Singapore venture, the project will also take place in London and Japan. Musicity.info

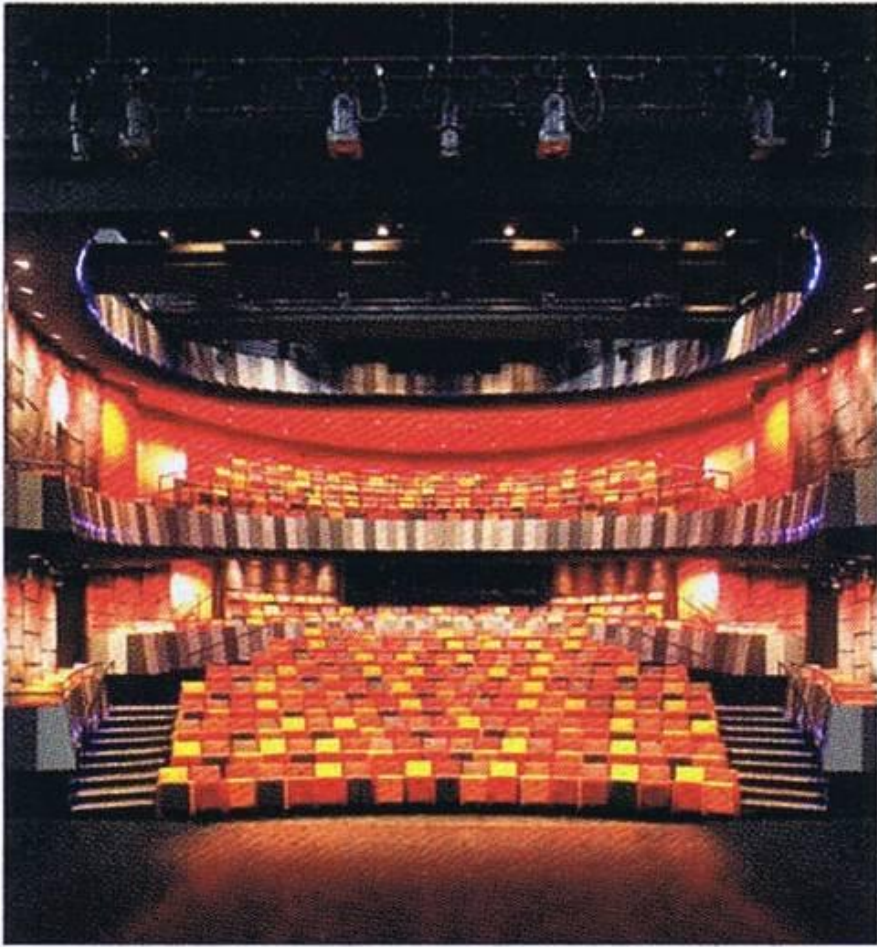

CHRISTINA PERRI, "LIVE"

The woman behind popular ballads Jar of Hearts and that Twilight song, A Thousand Years, will be performing "live". Don't dismiss her because of her Twilight connection. "Being associated with Twilight is just such a blessing and it's such an honour," she told ABC News Radio. "And the soundtracks themselves are just so cool... I just feel really awesome to be on them, smack in the middle of all the other artistes." 8 June, 8pm, Kallang Theatre. Tickets at $98 (early bird) and $118, Sistic.
